

The Inclusive SPEAKER

INKLUSIV's Strategic Inclusive Speaking Template

A seven-step process to building a strategic inclusive speaking plan that it will help you turn your own presentations, keynotes, and workshops into ones that intentionally account for various expectations and needs for audience members who have disabilities, are ageing, or are marginalized by technology.

Step 01

What is it that I am trying to achieve with this presentation, this keynote, or this workshop?

Step 02

How are these goals relevant to all of my audience members?

Step 03

Which ideas do I want to share with my audience through this presentation?

Step 04

What means am I using to share those ideas with my audience?

Step 05

How will I address various disabilities in the delivery of my material?

Step 05a

How will I account for the needs of audience members with visual impairments?

Step 05b

How will I account for the needs of audience members with auditory impairments?

Step 05c

How will I account for the needs of audience members with cognitive impairments?

Step 06

What are audience members expected to take away from their experience with me?

Step 07

How can I measure the impact of my delivery for my audience?
